

HARTMANNI

BIO:

HARTMANNI is an artist for a new generation. He grew up in a family of musicians in the country of Albania and saw how music could transcend race, language, religion, and gender and bring people together in a positive way.

He has been able to craft his own sound from the many influences that inspired him, such as John Mayer, Coldplay, Bryan Adams, and Queen. With his love of storytelling, along with soaring guitar solos, and his powerful vocals, HARTMANNI is dedicated to bringing something fresh and unique to the music industry.

HARTMANNI has released 5 self-produced/recorded singles and has many more to come this year. He loves to explore genres, but he has developed over the years into a pop/rock/blues artist. He lives in Los Angeles and has performed most recently with international sensation Angelina Jordan as well as Drake's Music Director Adrian X. HARTMANNI is passionate about bringing all peoples together and being a light in the face of darkness.
